FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEW Hach FL900 Series Flow Logger and Marsh-McBirney Flo-Dar Sensor Open Channel Flow Monitoring System

Frederick MD – July 2010 – Hach Company, Flow Meter Products & Services, is pleased to announce the release of their latest open channel flow metering innovation, the NEW Hach FL900 Series Flow Logger with Marsh-McBirney Flo-Dar™ Sensor. The system provides users with an economical, time-saving wireless (or standard) flow monitoring solution for municipal and industrial applications. Together, the rugged FL900 Series Flow Logger and proven non-contact Flo-Dar Sensor streamline the flow monitoring process by reducing site time while increasing the safety of flow monitoring personnel. The FL900 Series Logger features include instant verification of on-site operation/communication, real time alarms sent directly to email or mobile phones, and intuitive set-up and data management software. The non-contact Flo-Dar sensor further enhances personnel safety by eliminating sensor maintenance and confined space entry while reducing flow monitoring costs. Wireless FL900 Flow Logger models utilize Hach FSDATA™ web-based software that eliminates site visits to collect flow data allowing users to easily manage their flow data 24/7. The FL900 Series Flow Logger is also compatible with the Marsh-McBirney Flo-Tote 3 sensor.
